BUSINESS, JULY 5, 1884.

It is reported that seven of the Anarchist Knights Templar have become Communists lately.

Fifteen houses, principally the residences of poor laborers, were destroyed at Lachine, near Montreal.

The Detroit Oil Stove Company works were destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The loss is estimated at $100,000; the insurance at $50,000.

The Iowa schoolmasters, yesterday week, are reported to have adjourned sine die, after voting to drink the Prohibition law. In many instances they have been successful.

The Democratic Statesmen and journalists in this Tribune's Washington correspondence that Mr. Manning is about the Democratic Committee in this city. He expects to leave for Chicago this morning.

A Scottish clergyman in Margaret Hospital, a Manchester lunatic asylum, is to be released at once because more Presbyterians a Church presented a Presbyterian minister will relieve the energies of the community.

Commodore Cowper makes a speech in the Senate yesterday in advocacy of the Inter-State Commerce bill. This reserves particular for the consideration of a measure of this, of a salary of $7,500 each, which should have power to regulate all matters pertaining to Inter-State commerce and the regulation of railroads tending to make that the State.

Mayor Cornell has issued a proclamation urging celebrations, to keep their citizens from lighted cards to prevent such sights that the Democratic rascals were fully responsible the Republican police of Chicago did.

A conflagration storm passed over the country between Lincoln and Omaha, Tuesday, destroyed, several bridges were carried away, and grain damaged and fodder to the grain and corn crops.

Some of the Californian Democrats sent to Chicago have organized a "Cleveland Flag Club" to urge the nomination of Judge Field, of their State. The boom in favor of the Fields would judge it of small proportions just now. It may grow.

In the Cook County Criminal Court yesterday Judge Williamson granted a change of venue to Greene County, ordered for the session of All Thieves. The trial will take place during the fall term of the Sullivan County Court at Woodstock.

Charles D. Hutchinson, the Englishbank-note forger, escaped from the jail in the Inspection House Station in this city yesterday. It is supposed to have assisted by a fellow-prisoner confined for some other offense, and who has disappeared with him.

The Rev. Dr. Bowman Hall celebrated the Fourth of July the Methodist anniversary of the establishment of the providence in London, in the course of the speech he said the Fourth of July was the birthday of his wife, of his London church, and of American independence.

Baltic Spectators in Germany report over the failure of the London Gardening exhibition to accommodate but Lady Ruthvin. This gave the lesser on her steam-yacht and the other sister, with so many visitors of them, and shook other men of disposition

Mr. Blaine was at the railroad depot at Augusta, Me., yesterday when the Democratic Notification Committee passed on their way to the Indian. Most of them gratified the Republican, laughed, and all cheered for him as the train came out of Mr. Blaine's letter of acceptance will be issued soon after the adjournment of the National Democratic Convention. It is understood that it will give a clear and decisive expression view of the foreign policy which Mr. Blaine believes should be pursued by the United States.

The Michigan delegation to the Democratic Convention will probably support Cleveland, if they can be made to believe that Cleveland can carry New York. A few of the delegates are for Bayard. All will demand the adoption of a radical tariff reform platform.

Certain Democratic delegates from Louisiana say that it looks to southward to the National Convention of their party to carry that State, provided a sufficient tariff plank is adopted. They say, however, that if a Democratic ground is selected Blaine will carry the State.

The Democratic delegation, with Sheriff John Kelly now in command, forcibly carrying the political standard aground to the front of the scene of the conspiracies and the enemy of the Northwest," was conducted the Democracy could not hope for success.

The Pennsylvania delegation to the Democratic Convention arrived in Chicago yesterday. The leaders say they are for Randall, or at least seem to be almost alone. They are confidently opposed to the views of Senator Pendleton, Bayard, and Hoadly on the tariff question.

Tammany's Chief, John Kelly, made a speech from the platform of the Democratic Convention at Utica, N. Y., last evening. He said it would be "most unfortunate, most unfortunate," if General Cleveland is not nominated by the Democratic party for President. His delivery was vigorously cheered. Mr. Kelly has his own good ends in view.

Gen. Logan returned to the Senate yesterday to Hendricks's statement in Congress yesterday, viewed the alleged anti-polygamy. He declared the statements unchallenged and unchallenged false. There was not a shred of fact to sustain the allegations. The Senator, both Democrats and Republicans, listened to their charges that they congratulated the Senator Logan, and that they considered he had been most outrageously and basely assailed.

Sir Thomas Chamberlain, Judge of the London Criminal Court, yesterday sentenced Lord St. Leonards, recently convicted of a fraud and indicted, upon an accepted plea, to the pleasure. Chamberlain thought St. Leonards had been sufficiently punished. If a sentence of seven had been sanctioned of the same crime he would be sent to prison for several years. Chamberlain is one of the ablest Judges in England and a most conservative, studious lawyer, and upon official person.

In the trial of the libel suit brought by Pinkerton, an Englishman named Bobby Cecil alleged, against Mr. William O'Brien, editor of United Ireland, several statements been published in the Irish Court of Queen's Bench in justification of the charges constituting the alleged libel. The witnesses are described as young society men and gave their testimony damaging to Mr. Cecil. The revelations have produced an immense sensation. The libel suit brought by Mr. Cecil's counsel to allow the testimony has been a failure. It is thought that the trial will result in a disagreement of the jury.

The Rev. S. D. Gleason, of St. Louis, a former resident of Delaware, in an interview published in the St. Louis Monday Club sharply criticises the conduct of Senator Bayard during the War. Mr. Gleason declares his sympathy with the Southern leaders, and says that he and all the Democratic and special friends generally regretted Bayard who condemned the Union cause. He has no record of abuse or encouragement for those citizens of Delaware who took up arms to defend the Union; he had not a word of sympathy with those who had been wronged in home and who were sent to the hospitals of Wilmington, where he resided.

Patrick Eggerton left Indianapolis yesterday for Chicago in a special car on account of the hate which bears the Democratic delegation. Some of the more political friends accompany the delegation Eggerton. The fact that Mr. Eggerton left ahead of the main body of the Democratic party is only proof to some that he has special personal interests to further here. He is not a Cleveland man, and those best the Democratic politics have not consider him the best candidate for the Presidency. Many of the regular delegates believe Cleveland's name will create the greatest enthusiasm, but Eggerton's friends are not said to be suspicious of Mr. Cleveland.

THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE.

The most notable feature about the coming of the Democratic delegations into town is the absence of anxiousness for any one of the candidates. Democratic headquarters at the Palmer are looking for popularity. The Democrats are looking for availability. They want men who can carry States. There is no use talking up candidates who have no chance of election. The Democrats are looking for a man who can carry New York, Indiana, and Connecticut, and who can carry one of these States without any doubt. Such a man is the Democratic candidate. He is the man who can carry the Democratic party to victory. He is the man who can carry the Democratic party to victory. He is the man who can carry the Democratic party to victory.

THE DISTRIBUTION OF THE COURTS.

Congress could not have conferred no greater favor on the South by any more judicious distribution of the Federal Courts than that which has been effected by the Senate and the House. The Conference Committee has on the two bodies to agree, and the end of another year relieves the Southern people from the possibility that this Congress may impose the ownership and gentlemen of the legislation without being working about the most important of all the subjects that pressed for attention.

The Southern people have always had a large interest in the selection of Republican presidents and Democratic papers on the appointment of Democratic ministers. It is not a partisan question to be argued single, it is a fact that for the Republic since the settlement of a gigantic attack to agitate justice, and the election between and Democratic parties, the Democratic majorities of which are essential to the success of the true spirit of nationalism, have been in the Southern section of the country. Democratic Administrations have always been obliged to look to the Southern section of the country for the support of their policy. Democratic Administrations have always been obliged to look to the Southern section of the country for the support of their policy.

Apparently Gov. Cleveland leads all the other candidates at the start, but there is no confidence or certainty in the support given to him. The impression will be nearly to avoid him. It is the impression that he can only carry New York, and in the face of that fact the Democratic politicians will be brought to nominate him. The growth of Cleveland sentiment is the result of a misunderstanding of the situation. The Democratic party is not looking for a candidate who can carry New York. It is looking for a candidate who can carry the country. Cleveland is not the man who can carry the country. He is not the man who can carry the country. He is not the man who can carry the country.

THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

The Conference Committee on the Senate and House bills relating to the Supreme Court and Circuit Courts have agreed upon a report which is to be presented to-day. The report is a compromise between the two bills, and is said to be satisfactory to both sides. The report is a compromise between the two bills, and is said to be satisfactory to both sides. The report is a compromise between the two bills, and is said to be satisfactory to both sides.

THE CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS.

BROCADED SILK VELVETS!

S. M. ROTHSCHILD.

I have just received One Hundred and Thirty-nine Pieces Black Brocaded Silk Velvet. This lot comprises about forty exquisite styles of the very latest designs—viz.: Sunflower, Everlast, Rosebud, Apple, Pear, Cornucopia, Pekin, Arabesque, and twenty-five other beautiful and artistic designs. These velvets are twenty-two inches wide, have a twilled silk back, the patterns are woven in by handlooms, and are by far the finest lot of goods ever brought to this country. I shall place them on sale tomorrow at the ridiculous low price of $2.50!

Per Yard. Worth $5.

Owing to an unknown cause of six weeks' delay in transit from Lyons, France, to this city, I am enabled to give my customers the long-sought-after Brocaded Velvets at one-half actual value.

THE CLEVELAND TRAIN.

[Special Dispatch to The Tribune.]

NEW YORK, July 3.—[Special.]—The last one of the Democratic processions to Chicago started from this city at 10 o'clock this morning. It was a Baltimore & Ohio train, consisting of ten cars, and starting two ordinary and one parlor car were filled with Democrats of the Cleveland persuasion, who were determined to take part in the Democratic Convention. Of the 300 and more persons who were on the train, the majority were delegates to the convention, and the rest were friends of the delegates. The persons who formed the second section, consisting of the same number of parlor, ordinary, and sleeping cars as the first, and with delegates numbering about the same, left Jersey City at 11:30 o'clock. The entire train carried about 600 persons, and was the largest party that has left this city for Chicago. The persons who formed the first section were mostly delegates from this city, and the delegates from the interior of the State, who had come to New York to meet their colleagues and proceed with them to Chicago, were provided with quarters on the train, and took their meals on the cars. Those who formed the second section, and who left Jersey City at 11:30 o'clock, were mostly friends of the delegates, who had come to New York to see the delegates off, and who had decided to go to Chicago at the last moment. Those who left Jersey City at 11:30 o'clock had to provide themselves with meals, and the train did not stop for meals. The train was in charge of Conductor Thomas Dolan, and Baggage-master Thomas Hughes, who have been employed on the Cleveland train on its trips to Albany and Washington. Both of these men have had charge of the train on its trips to Albany and Washington, and they have been employed on the train since Cleveland was first nominated for Governor. Dolan and Hughes have been employed on the Cleveland train since it was first put on the road, and they have had charge of it on its trips to Albany and Washington. Dolan has been employed on the train on its trips to Albany, and Hughes has been on the train on its trips to Albany and Washington

A Number of the Politicos Who Run the Republicans in New York City.

Their Early Life, Personal Characteristics, and Methods of Political Work.

Mr. Conkling, Jacob Hess, John Patterson, Barney Biglin, Steve Franck and Their System.

New York, July 5.—[Special Correspondence.] Just a memorable picture in the Fourth-ward Republican house where Conkling once ruled supreme, and where he still has a considerable following, is to be found in the basement of the Republican club-house, which is acknowledged to be private property, and to which only Republicans are admitted.

There are two "clubs" of these on the Republican party in Conkling, Senator Platt, and other Republican leaders whose interest it is to have such a state of affairs, and the Republican Union Club, which is the property of the Republican party, and which is supposed to be under the control of the Republican State Committee. The Union Club was organized by Chester A. Arthur, and was for a number of years the headquarters of the Republican State Committee. It is now in charge of Thomas C. Platt, and is used by him as a rendezvous for his followers. The Fourth-ward club is the property of Conkling, and is used by him as a rendezvous for his followers. Both clubs are handsomely furnished, and are provided with bars, which are well patronized by the members. The Fourth-ward club is the more popular of the two, and is the one which Conkling has always used as a rendezvous for his followers. It is in the Fourth ward that Conkling has always had his strength, and it is there that he has always had the most influence with the voters. It is there that he has always had the most influence with the voters. It is there that he has always had the most influence with the voters. It is there that he has always had the most influence with the voters.

Barney Biglin and his assistant, Steve Franck, in charge of the Fourth-ward club-house, are two of the most important men in the district so far as Conkling's interests are concerned. Biglin is a veteran politician, and has been in charge of the Fourth-ward club-house for a number of years. He is a man of considerable influence in the district, and is a good manager. He is a man of few words, and is not given to talking politics with strangers. He is a man of few words, and is not given to talking politics with strangers. He is a man of few words, and is not given to talking politics with strangers. He is a man of few words, and is not given to talking politics with strangers.

He is a man of few words, and is not given to talking politics with strangers. He is a man of few words, and is not given to talking politics with strangers. He is a man of few words, and is not given to talking politics with strangers.

Jacob Hess is the district boss of the Twenty-first assembly district. He is an unmistakable Conkling man, and has made considerable money by his connection with the district and by the favor of Conkling and his friends. Hess is a man of few words, and is not given to talking politics with strangers. He is a man of few words, and is not given to talking politics with strangers. About 2,000 or 3,000 people visited the Washington Park track yesterday and were treated to the exhibition of running. The favorite was beaten in every race, and the summary of good sorgnin of the day. The high event specially for the homewards, but on the whole the sport was very good.

The first race on the card was a sixth dash for Gymnasts, and eighteen starters appeared at the post. Some time was spent in attempting a start, and when the flag began the boys did not get away to a straggling contest with Springer in the lead. Dodgeball moved up when the leaders reached the back stretch, and at the finish was but a length behind the winner, with Tim Murphy third, one length away from the latter. Time, 1:16.

Hale Discords and Disruption of an Organization That Is Now Prosperous.

A Club Whose Fraternal Sociability Has Been Acquired by Means of Handicaps.

Knickerbocker Duties, Theoretical Lunches, and College-Bred Amateurs.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, July 5.—The Lotos Club has furnished quite a number of dinner years ago as a kind of pious memory to a number of journalists connected with the daily press. Every time this was changed to include business men, the purpose was to have the majority of dinners authors, journalistic artists, actors, or representatives of the professions, or merely the friends of the organization to be the hosts of those who ought to constitute artists and literary men in a general sense. The purpose was carried out for several years, but many of the men who were within that category proved to be so utterly unsocial and disagreeable as to make the cost and trouble not to bring it over to themselves.

Failure to the point of the artistic guide was particularly effective. They took to gentlemen, their natural everything; they were amateurs; moreover, they would not pay their dues or any of their little private guests. So the Lotos is on the point of the Lotos had almost succumbed with debts to pay. It is but just to say that the gentlemen managed to avoid bankruptcy, to pay their debts, to give a dinner every, to active participation in the affairs of the club, to the extent of being willing to give a dinner themselves to the committee.
